About the BMA

The Black Ministerial Alliance (BMA) was founded during the 1960s civil rights movement with a mission to provide spiritual nurture to clergy, advocacy and program services for the larger Black community. Starting as an inter-denominational group of 20 clergy, the BMA has grown to become an inclusive alliance of churches, faith- and community-based organizations reaching around 20,000 ethnically diverse parishioners/clients in Greater Boston.

Today the BMA fulfills its mission by serving as an intermediary organization working in partnership with over 100 nonprofit agencies annually to make services delivered to thousands of children, youth and their families more meaningful and effective. We convene resources, acting as a clearinghouse that redistributes funds and technical assistance to build the capacity and strengthen faith- and community-based organizations.

Volunteer Opportunities

When you become a member, the BMA encourages you to volunteer in our programs, events, and services. They include:

- Victory Generation Out-Of-School Time Program
